ef-fi-cient

1. performing or functioning in the best possible manner with the least waste of time and effort
2. satisfactory and economical to use
3. utilizing a particular commodity or product with maximum efficiency

Most job functions within an ERP Project are a mix of teamwork, collaboration, and individual effort.

Maximizing resources on projects is the key to delivering solutions on time and within budget.

Tools and technologies have advanced the ability for teams to work in a virtual environment utilizing online communication software to enable remote work efforts.

Training Development activities on ERP Projects is an area of opportunity for a more efficient use of time, money, and resources.

A blend of onsite and offsite work effort ensures “face time” to establish key working relationships, while providing a maximum use of time by eliminating unproductive travel time from a typical work week.

Shirley Hollywood & Associates provides a realistic remote Training Development solution to maximize effort and minimize cost

SHA Remote Training Development achieves efficiency through:

- Lower travel costs
- Travel time replaced by working time
- Use of online communication technologies
- Consistent onsite presence to manage issues
- Lower cost per resource on billable remote work
- Careful planning and management by SHA engagement management
- Lower potential turnover through high job satisfaction

*“Don’t try to do more with less.
It’s not possible.
Do more by being efficient.”*

ERP Remote Training Development works:

Remote Training Development is a methodology by SHA that provides a mix of onsite time for specific activities, along with remote work time for heads down efforts.

SHA training teams utilize each other to accomplish tasks and share the workload required for onsite activities. Our teams rotate being at the client site to ensure a physical presence for troubleshooting and facilitating communication needs.

The SHA Advantage:

No other firm combines the solution focus on ERP Training. SHA Consultants are highly experienced in all phases of ERP Training. Having seen and done multiple approaches, SHA consultants can better plan and anticipate needs for onsite in person communications.

Remote Development is Efficient

You can do more work, faster, at the same quality level and for less cost:

- Convert travel time to work time; 40 hour work weeks are now 50
- Eliminate costly travel expenses
- Pay a lower consultant bill rate for remote working time
- Minimize consultant turnover due to travel restrictions
- Expand the consulting resource pool to those with travel restrictions
- Maintain onsite presence when needed for critical activities
